

FEEDING THE HUNGRY

Associated Pets- Earlier this summer the unthinkable happened in one household; they ran out of can! "You never think it's going to happen to you," says E.M. Sanchez. The black and white feline had to go the whole day with only dry food to tide her over. She swore she would never take this privilege for granted again and vowed to help other cats in the same situation. After the stress of the incident, she refused to comment further on her plans but assures us her people will never let this happen again.

How Much Grooming is Too Much?

Felines are known for good hygiene (as we should be), but is there ever a time when bathing is a bad thing? Most experts say, no. Being the expert that I am, I'd have to agree. I suggest at least one bath if not two between every nap. Sometimes it's best to wake up, get a few licks in, and then fall back asleep as you dry. Most importantly though, always leave the butt for last.

Suspicious Men Heard Outside Room

August 13, 2018. One Emilita Siders was terrified upon hearing strange men outside her door. While she had been warned by her humans, she still burrowed safely in her panic room. Miss Siders emerged unscathed hours later and discovered her fridge was now running.
